

To whom it may concern,

In 1972, the Texas Legislature passed an amendment to the Texas Constitution, Article 8 Taxation and Revenue, with the goal of providing significant property tax relief to disabled veterans.

At the time, homes cost approximately $25,000, and the relief dollar figures were commensurate with the bands of disability assigned by the VA to veterans. The values provided in the benefit were meaningful then. For example, a Veteran with a 50% disability would have received a tax exemption of approximately 40% on the value of an average home. Currently, only veterans disabled at 100% receive a 100% exemption on property taxes. Veterans with lower disability ratings receive benefits on the order of 2-3%. Unfortunately, the bill was written with fixed dollar amounts for other levels of disability, and those amounts have not been amended since 1972.
